

Electoral Review of North Devon

The independent Local Government Boundary Commission for England is carrying out an electoral review of North Devon Council.

The review will draw new council ward boundaries across North Devon.

The Commission has also announced that the council should have 41 councillors in future: two fewer than it currently has.

Now we are asking for evidence about your local area to help us decide a new pattern of wards for North Devon.

Your views will make a difference

Local people know their area best. That's why we are asking you for evidence on a range of issues:

- Do you have suggestions about where your ward boundaries should be?
- Which areas do you identify as your local community?
- Where do people in your area go to access local facilities such as shops and leisure activities?
